DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 7/12/2006 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 4 it is not clear what comprises a "drawer pull mechanism" recited in the claim. To the Examiner's knowledge the term has no defined art recognized meaning implying specified components of mechanical parts. If such is not the case, Applicant should provide submissions explicitly detailing the components showing otherwise. For as much as is disclosed a "drawer pull mechanism" could be a handle.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 3728

5. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

6. Claims 1-5 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rackley (US Patent no. 5,078,566) in view of Groomes (US Patent no. 3,871,519). Rackley discloses a case 10 for carrying and storing circular saw blades comprising at least two trays 11, 12 provided with inserts 34, 36 that alter the inside diameter of the said at least two trays for limiting movement of a circular saw blade. Hence Rackley discloses all of the elements recited in the claim. The only possible substantive issue is whether or not the case of Rackley can be said to be a "generally circular case". Applicant's file wrapper estoppel seems to eliminate "generally" in that it is argued a rectangular case is not generally circular. Otherwise claim 1 as amended would be anticipated by Rackley.

In order to demonstrate a "generally circular" case is known in the art the Examiner has cited Groomes (US Patent no. 3,871,519). The patent to Leitner (US Patent 2,410,585) is cited for the disclosure of figure 2 where there is shown what can be characterized as a circular case known in the art for over 60 years. The prior art appears to demonstrate that a difference between a rectangular shaped case as opposed to generally circular case is a frivolous one. The case of Groomes includes a pair of trays similar in design as Rackley, each with a projection 15, 16 extending outwardly. In view of the aforementioned, to the extent that rectangular is argued as not generally circular it would have been prima facie obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the case of Rackley by employing a generally circular shape as taught by Groomes. The motivation for this modification is that such changes appear to be a matter of design choice to those skilled in the container art.

REPLY BY APPLICANT OR PATENT OWNER TO THIS OFFICE ACTION

7. Applicant is duly reminded that a complete response must satisfy the requirements of 37 C.F. R. 1.111, including: "The reply must present arguments pointing out the specific distinctions believed to render the claims, including any newly presented claims, patentable over any applied references. A general allegation that the claims "define a patentable invention" without specifically pointing out how the language of the claims patentably distinguishes them from the references does not comply with the requirements of this section. Moreover, "The prompt development of a clear Issue requires that the replies of the applicant meet the objections to and rejections of the claims." Applicant should also specifically point out the support for any amendments made to the disclosure. See MPEP 2163.06 II(A), MPEP 2163.06 and MPEP 714.02. The "disclosure" includes the claims, the specification and the drawings.

If no amendments are made to claims as applicant or patent owner believes the claims are patentable without further modification, the reply must distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the examiner's action and must respond to every ground of objection and rejection in the prior Office Action in the same vain as given above, 37 CFR 1.111 (b) & (c), M.P.E.P. 714.02.

The examiner also points out, due to the change in practice as affecting final rejections, older decisions on questions of prematurity of final rejection or admission of subsequent amendments do not necessarily reflect present practice. "Under present practice, second or any subsequent actions on the merits shall be final, except where the examiner introduces a new ground of rejection that is neither necessitated by applicant's amendment of the claims nor based on information submitted in an information disclosure statement filed during the period set forth in 37 CFR 1.97(c)" (emphasis mine), see MPEP 706.07(a).
